THE ALBANY CONVENTION

AN UNUSUALLY LARGE ATTENDANCE PROB-

TALK OF A NEW METHOD OF CHOOSING THE

RANGEMENTS FOR THE CONVENTION.

Albany, April 25.—Every one of the 777 delegates the Republican State Convention to be held here n Thursday evidently intends to be present, for the despair over the demand for rooms. Such an enormous attendance at a convention, whose sole business apnittee and of four delegates at large to the Re publican National Convention, shows what an ardent interest is taken by all Republicans of New-York State fortunes of the Republican party this year. But it is hoped by prominent Republicans here that the State Convention will do something more than what it has been stated above it will do-namely, that it will also thoroughly reorganize its party machinery and put the party organization in a condition to battle successfully at the polls for the Presidency this fall. There were 650,338 Republicans who voted for Harrison in 1888 and only 534,956 who voted for Fassett in 1891. Was it any defect in the party ma-chinery which left at home last fall those 115,282

Closely connected with this question of organization is that of the composition of the Republican State Committee. In the past this committee has had one member from each Congressional district. But Governo Flower's Congressional Apportionment law, just passed, is intentionally unjust to Republicans. It makes up ighteen sure Democratic districts out of thirty-four. In these eighteen districts there are only about 240,000 Republicans; whereas, in the other sixteen districts are 410,000 Republicans. The anomaly would thus be presented, if the new Republican state Committee is organized under the old system, of a minority of Republicans having a more influential voice in the

There are fewer Congressional districts in raral New ork under the Flower Congressional Reapportionment law than ever before in the history of the State; consequently, there will be fewer Republican members of th State Committee from that part of the State. But the Republican vote in rural New-York is just as great That is where the Republican party must get its votes to elect a President. There is just as much have active, energetic men in that part of the State to get out the Republican vote. Republican leaders here think the Republican party should not blindly follow the lead of the Democratic party in its method of electing State Committeemen, but should adopt some other plan, which will preserve to the Republican party its workers in rural New-York. Some Republican members of the Legislature favor

State Committee consisting of one member from each county except New-York, Kings and Erle. To these counties they would give one member for each Congress district.. This would give New-York ten members of the State Committee, Kings five and Erle two, while the other counties would have fifty-six members. This would make a State Committee of seventy-three members. An executive committee, of course, could conduct its business at the headquarters in New-York, as at present, but the State Committee would know that it had a member or members in every county of the State. Frequent meetings in New York furing a canvass, of the members of the entire State Committee would conduce greatly to the success of the party at the polls in the fall. It should be added that, with Congress districts so large as the XXIst, containing five counties; the XXIId, containing four counties; the XXIIId, containing five; the XXVIIth, containing five; the XXVIIIth, containing five; the XXIXth, containing four, and the XXXth, containing five, it is absurd to think of one Republican State Committeeman knowing anything of especial value concerning the political drift in his district, if he represents one of these districts.

Many prominent Republicans have engaged quarters at the leading hotels, among them Thomas C. Platt. Warner Miller, Chauncey M. Depew, Frank Hiscock, Louis F. Payn, H. G. Burleigh, John Camp, J. S. Smart, Michael J. Dady, Bernard Highin, J. Sloat Fassett, John C. Kenyon and Francis Hendricks The convention will be called to order at 12 o'clock on Thursday, at Harmanus Bleecker Hall, by the chair-man of the State Committee, William Brockfield, ew-York. The principal work of the convention be the naming of four delegates-at-large convention, Messrs. Platt, Miller, Hiscock and Depew, will be chosen. There will undoubtedly be an evening session, and possibly the work may be carried into the next day. It is said that William A. Sutherland, of Rochester, will be the temporary chairman. The preliminary arrangements for the convention are in the hands of the Unconditional Republican Cluber, rather, in the hands of a committee of lifty and are in the hands of the Unconditional Republican Clubor, rather, in the hands of a committee of lifty appointed from that well-known and popular organization. Eugene Burlingame is the chalman of that committee, and the secretary is Charies P. Templeton.
There are also several sub-committees. The committee will act as a reception committees. A sub-committee, with William P. Rudd as chairman, will have charge of the arrangements at the hall. Admission to the convention will be by ticket only.

The State Committee will arrive here on Wednesday, and will hold a session at the Kenmore in the evening.
The New-York deligation will reach here late on Wednesday afternoon by special train, as most of the delegates will first attend the ceremony of laying the cornerstone of the Grant Monument.

Providence, R. I., April 25 (Special).—The third trial for election of members of the Legislature result d in no choice, five Republicans and four Democrats having a plurality. The total vote cast was about 14,000, a much larger number than had been anticipated. Under costly trials will evidently do much to break down the majority system of elections, which has generally worked for the best interests of the State. An amendment to the Ballot Reform law is suggested, whereby after the first trial only the names of the higher two candidates be printed on the official ballot.

Atlantic City, April 25.-After seven weeks' dead lock, the City Council succeeded in organizing to-night. Two of the Deinocrats formed a deal with the Republicans and the Council voted ten to eight. The Republicans got the best of the deal, but the committees were divided.

a number of students, including A. H. Brown, of the class of '92, department of arts, and D. H. Gessler, of the class of '95, the men gathered in the junior law rooms at 2 o'clock. The meeting was called to order once, and resulted as follows : President, A. H. Brown ; vice-president, S. D. Price; secretary, J. F. Tucker, and treasurer, D. D. Gessler. Upon motion of one of the students, A. P. Vorslawsky, C. W. Millard and 8. D. Price were appointed a committee to draw up a constitution and by-laws. The members worked with commendable enthusiasm, and before the meeting ad-journed their report had been unanimously adopted.

some lively, interesting, eloquent and enthusiastic speeches were made by the young men. So persuastve, students who had entered the meeting for obstructive purposes, supposedly, so far overcame the error of their ways as to join in the discussions and in cheering the Republican party. Among the speakers were W. C. Mains, of the class of '92', J. F. Tucker, R. L. Randolph and J. F. Rice, H. A. Mathews, the "Irish orator," was also present, and made a short speech in his customary eloquent fashion. Meetings will be held frequently.

THE STATEN ISLAND EXCISE SYSTEM.

MEASURE BEFORE THE GOVERNOR WHICH WOULD WORK A GREAT REFORM.

There is a flerce political struggle on Staten Island over the proposed change in the organization of the Richmond County Excise Board as provided by a bill now in the hands of Governor Flower for approval. There are five townships in the county and under the present system each has its own Board of Exciscomposed of three members chosen at town elections There is also a County Board of three Police Com missioners. Under this arrangement the excise ad-ministration of the island is most inefficient and all the order-loving people are arrayed against the system It is due to the methods of these boards that the rigger" and "bunco" sharps. As to the rest of the island, grog-shops are at every cross-roads corner

The bill now before the Governor provides for a single Excise Board for the whole county, to be and of two other members, citizens of the county, who The two citizen members first chosen shall hold office for two years and four years, and the term of their the police authorities a share in the control of the excise system. It has the indersement of every elergyman of every denomination on the island who has exof every denomination on the island who has ex-pressed himself on the subject. Some of the minister and the most influential laymen and properly owner-ary the Governor to sign the bill. The new board is to be chosen within ten days after the bill become a law, and as the majority of existing licenses ex-pire on May 2, the friends of reform hope that the bill will be signed at once. The supervisors who will elect the new Board are Robert Moore, Nathantel Marsh, Julius Credo, Howard Van Name and Abram Cole.

REPUBLICAN PRIMARIES IN MARYLAND.

Baltimore. April 25 (Special).—The Republican primaries in this city to-day were hotly contested. The 1st and 111d legislative districts will send delegates to the State convention who favor Harrison's renomination. The 11d district delegates will favor an aninstructed delegation. In the 111d Congressional Pistrict the Harrison people make a clean sweep, while in the IVth there is a split, with the chances of the friends of the Administration getting control. In the 1st District, embracing the lower counties of the State, the Harrison people will undoubtedly win. In the 11d District the Administration won by a good majority. FOR W. K. VANDERBILT'S NEWPORT HOUSE

IRON ENTRANCE GRILLE.

The splendid bronze and wrought iron grille for the trance of W. K. Vanderbilt's new house in Newport, which has been made by John Williams after the designs of Richard M. Hunt, is on exhibition at the works, No. 544 West Twenty seventh st. The work is said to be the most important of the kind that has ever workmen. This entrance to Mr. Vanderbili's house will be one of the sights of the famous watering place. The grille is ¶ cuty-five feet wide and is sixten feet high. The doors proper are each eleven feet high by six feet four incles wide, making an entrance way of twelve feet. At the extreme sides are columns in th Corinthian style surmanned by ornate caps. Two shallar columns support the great doors, each of which weighs over 3,000 pounds. The doors are constructed of a great number of heavy standards. In the centre sperounded by beautifully wrought acouthus leaves over each door is a Bon's heat with the sain draped on either side.

The work in the panel above the door is particularly fine. The doors, in spite of their immense weight are hung so carefully that they swing almost as easily as the ordinary heavy weeden door of a city house. Frosted plate glass of a light shade will be put in the doors and panels. The outside of the grille will be stained a dark green and the monograms and leaves on the inside will be gided. The work will be on exhibition to day and to-morrow, and the art students of the city are invited to see it.

The corn market was quiet and had few features. The opening was easier on reports of heavy selling in Chicago, but the loss was partly regained and the close showed a total decline of only 1-4328 cents. Chicago receipts were larger than had been expected, but the gradient continued poor. Cables were firmer at the close. Spot quotations were shightly higher. Cats were quiet and firm in sympathy with when and corn. The spot market was quiet and firmer. Trading in lard options was dull, with unchanged quotations.

THE TRADE IN CHICAGO.

Chicago, April 25 (Special).—Although cables were still beartsh and the trade was rather dull, wheat to-day here was firm and a little higher. July sold between 80 3-4 and 81 5-8 cents, and closed at 81 1-8 cents. Crop bulletins all dwelt upon the unseasonably cold weather and the late planting. The decrease in the visible supply was very much larger than anybody had anticipated. The world's wheat shipments to Europe, 5,700,000 bushels, were no larger than the week before. The fact that grain quotations are soon to go our again, and the prediction from Washington that the Hatch bill would soon be defeated or laid on the shelf, were additional reasons for the steadiness. The cush market was not overstrong. The West was no little inclined to be buillaid. The selling of the day was led by Pärdridge and by the seaboard. There was some open selling of May corn by the Cudalys, almost 500,000 bushels. It made the crowd uncertain as to whether or not, after all, there was to be any May odd. May sold between 42.14 and 41.12 cents, and closed at 41.34 cents, July between 38.3-4 and 39.1-4 cents, and closed at 30 cents. The receipts were light, 209 cars: the estimates for Tuesday also light, 375 cars. There were only ten cars of contract corn, and these came from the dryers. Cats were steady, but doil. In the provision pit the closing prices showed a little advance over the opening. July pork sold between $9.50 and $9.65, and closed at $5.27. July lard between $22 and $3.00, and closed at $5.70. There were more hogs than predicted, 27,000; the estimate for Tuesday was 19,000.
